INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILLING IN THE APPLICATION FORM

Please tick the types of insurance you wish to take out. You may also take out any insurance (hull, third party liability, passenger accident) individually using this form. The types of insurance collected in this form are all legally independent contracts.

Please answer all questions as far as you can. Missing particulars may be added later.

If you tick neither 'yes' nor 'no' we have to assume 'no' if the application form shows no other information.

Item 1) For owners' collectives please specify the name of the 'manager' and add 'and co-owners'. Provide us with a separate list of the names and addresses of the co-owners. Also specify the phone and fax numbers under which we can reach you at day.

Item 2) Build of motor yacht (MY) includes: open gliders (no cabin), cabin gliders, displacement vessel and special types (inflatables, angling boats). Sailing yachts include, e. g. catamarans, trimarans and dinghies.

Sail area on the wind is calculated from mainsail, foresail, mizzen sail if applicable – not including spinnaker, genoa and further additional sails.

Rig types include, e.g. sloop, cutter, ketch, yawl.

For two inboard engines specify power as follows: e. g. 2 x 150 HP. If the vessel has an additional outboard engine specify it additionally. The value of the outboard engine must always be specified separately under item 4, regardless of whether it is the main engine or carried as an additional engine (e. g. as spare drive or for a motor launch).

Today's new value of a second-hand boat is today's cost of production of the yacht type or of a comparable yacht including equipment.

Item 3) Commercial use: charter, participation in boat shows.

Item 4) Important information for determining the insurance sums

Please enter separate insurance sums for outboard engine, trailer, personal items and loose inventory if you also wish to insure these items. The insurance sum should be the value of the vessel at the time of application, or the purchase price.

Nautical equipment includes all instruments and electronic equipment used for running the vessel as well as life jackets, radio direction finders, GPS system, echo sounder, one set of binoculars, but no trailers, slip carts, support blocks and tarpaulins.

Personal items and loose inventory includes items not firmly connected with the vessel hull that are not needed for running the boat (such as bedlinen, cushions, blankets, cutlery, but no trailers, slip carts, support blocks and tarpaulins).

Two transports (from and to the winter storage place) are insured without an extra premium. Therefore only tick the 'yes' box for additional transports if your yacht is transported in addition to that, e. g. by trailer for every use.

Item 10) The extension clause says that the contracts are automatically extended for another year unless terminated in writing no later than 1 month before the expiry date.

CONFIRMATION OF RECEIPT OF ALL DOCUMENTS IN ACCORDANCE WITH SECTION 7 GERMAN INSURANCE CONTRACT ACT (VVG)

All the requisite documentation for the insurance cover applied for on the front page of this form has been provided or otherwise made available to me. The additional information as defined under Section 7 para. 1 and 2 German Insurance Contract Act is available from my insurance broker, the firm of Hamburger Yacht-Versicherung Schomacker Versicherungsmakler GmbH, and I may access this information at any time I so require it.

RIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL

Hamburger Yacht-Versicherung Schomacker Versicherungsmakler GmbH

LEGAL NOTICE REGARDING BREACHES OF PRE-CONTRACTUAL DUTY OF DISCLOSURE

Please note that in accordance with Section 19 German Insurance Contract Act, until the time of submission of your contractual acceptance you are required to carefully, truthfully and fully provide the insurer with all information that to the best of your knowledge relate to circumstances relevant to the grant of insurance cover and about which it has asked written questions of you (pre-contractual duty of disclosure). We provide you with the following notice concerning the legal consequences in the event that you breach this pre-contractual duty of disclosure by a failure to disclose circumstances about which the insurer has inquired in writing, or where you do so inaccurately. Depending on whether you have breached the duty of disclosure deliberately, through gross negligence, slight negligence or did so innocently, the insurer may rescind, terminate, or, in certain circumstances, amend the agreement. In the event that you deliberately breach the duty of disclosure or did so through your gross negligence, the insurer is entitled to rescind the agreement. The insurer, moreover, is not obliged to make any payment of compensation, unless the breach of the duty of disclosure concerns a circumstance that did not have any causal connection with the occurrence of the insured event or the identification of the insured event or which was not relevant with respect to the determination or extent of the compensation payment. In the event that you breach this duty of disclosure neither deliberately nor through acting in a grossly negligent manner, the insurer may terminate the agreement by giving a period of notice of one month. Except in the case of a deliberate breach of the duty of disclosure, the insurer may not rescind or terminate the agreement if it would still have concluded the agreement, even under other terms and conditions, even had it known of the non-disclosed circumstances. In this case the insurer may demand that the agreement be amended with new conditions, i. e. in the event of a culpable breach of the duty of disclosure these amendments will be effective retrospectively, and if, on the other hand, there was an innocent breach of the said duty, these amendments only become part an integral part of the agreement as of the current insurance period. The insurer may not avail of the aforementioned rights if it was aware of the non-disclosed risk-related circumstance or the inaccuracy of the information provided. The insurer remains entitled to seek rescission of the agreement on the grounds of fraudulent misrepresentation. In the event that the insurer succeeds in objecting to performance of its contractual duties on the basis of fraudulent misrepresentation, it is not obliged to make any payment of compensation.
